Employment Training Panel Approves Over $5M in Workforce Training Funds and Continues Support for Apprenticeship Programs

SACRAMENTO – The State of California’s Employment Training Panel convened its regularly held public meeting today, where 17 contracts were approved, totaling over $5M in job training funds. Additionally, since the last Panel meeting on August 24, Panel Chair, Barry Broad and Acting Executive Director, Jill McAloon have approved approximately $1.6 to help fund training for 30 small business and small-scope projects under $100,000 each.

Nearly half of all training proposals brought before the Panel today were multiple employer contracts (MEC), funded under ETP’s Apprenticeship Training Pilot Program. In accordance with the Pilot, ETP may fund training for a JATC or other program sponsor which is part of an apprenticeship training program, provided the apprenticeship program is registered with the Division of Apprenticeship Standards. The Pilot focuses on trainees who have advanced to Year 2+ in the apprenticeship program. Under the Apprenticeship Pilot Program, ETP will fund up to 144 hours of RSI.

ETP’s Apprenticeship Training Pilot Program has quickly gained momentum since its approval in March of this year. Apprenticeship training is uniquely designed to bring frontline workers, who are often unemployed or displaced into secure high-skill jobs with strong wage progression. As such, it furthers many of the Panel’s program goals. Apprenticeship training programs are a key component to California’s talent development strategies in many high demand sectors, and a unique, industry/labor-driven training model that’s proven to be an effective training method with benefits not only to employers and workers, but also to regional economies looking to address the skilled workers shortage. Apprenticeship training fills the skills gap. “It’s exciting to see the ETP program expand in response to the changing economy and to support high-wage career pathways that are directly tied to employer and community needs,” remarked Peter Cooper, Assistant Director in charge of ETP’s Apprenticeship Pilot Program.

ETP is a business and labor supported state agency that assists employers in strengthening their competitive edge in the economy by providing funds to partially off-set the costs of necessary job skills training. California’s ETP is a performance-based program, providing funds for trainees who successfully complete training and are retained in good-paying jobs at a required minimum wage, for at least 90 days.

The program, funded by the Employment Training Tax paid by California employers, helps businesses threatened by out-of-state and international competition. The Panel also serves employers under its Special Employment Training Program, funding projects designed to improve skills and employment security of frontline workers in projects that do not meet standard employer/trainee eligibility requirements. Since its inception in 1983, the ETP program has provided approximately $1.25 billion to train over 800,000 workers for more than 78,000 California companies. Employers match training funds awarded by ETP, making these projects true public-private partnerships. For more information about the program, please visit www.etp.ca.gov, or call 916-327-5368.
